

Álvaro Daniel Márquez

Álvaro D. Márquez is a multidisciplinary artist working with printmaking, fiber art, sculpture, and installation. His work explores issues around social, racial, and gender inequality and engages questions about the self, history, and one's place in it.

He holds an MFA in Printmaking from CSU Long Beach, an MA in American Studies and Ethnicity from the University of Southern California, and a BA in US History from Brown University. He hails from the working class immigrant community of East Salinas, CA, and resides in Los Angeles County.
